REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO COLLEGE.

No certificate from a preparatory school will be received for any part of the work of the College Course. Examination will be given in any college subject for which credit is sought. Laboratory work will be required if the subject be a science.

All candidates for admission to College must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character and if they have been enrolled in another college must present a certificate of honorable dismissal with a statement of the grades they desire credit.

The regular times for entrance examinations are the Monday before Commencement and the last day of the summer vacation.

Sixteen Units or their equivalent are required for admission to the Freshman Class.

The term Unit as defined by the North Central Association of College and Secondary School, (pg. 36, Proceedings Tenth Annual Meeting) has been adopted—a study prescribed for one school year of at least 35 weeks, for four or five periods per week of prepared work.

Requirements of the "Grammar Grades" are not accepted in satisfaction of these Units.

Fifteen Required Units are as follows:

Latin.	4	Mathematics.	3
Greek.	2	English.	3½
History.	1	Bible.	½
Science.	1

The one optional Unit may be offered in any one of the above departments or their equivalent.

Students may be granted three Units of conditions, two of which may be Greek. When this is done two Units additional to those accepted, must be offered.

Greek conditions must be removed by class room work for which College credits will be given.

Graduates of Park College Academy are admitted to the Freshman Class without examination or condition.

Graduates of approved Preparatory or High Schools will be given admission to the Freshman Class by satisfying study for study, the requirements for entrance as presented in the following statements.

All enrollment is tentative. Full standing will not be given until the student has shown, by doing satisfactory work, that he is able to pursue College subjects with success.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION BY DEPARTMENTS.

LATIN:

Four Units are Required.

1. Grammar: Inflection, Rules of Syntax and Prosody.
2. Texts: Five Books Caesar's Gallic Wars, for one of which Viri Romae may be substituted. Sallust's Conspiracy of Cataline or its equivalent. Six of Cicero's Orations, including four against Cataline. Four to six books of Vergil.
3. Prose Composition: Translation into Latin Prose of English sentences as outlined in D'Ooge's Prose Composition or its equivalent.

GREEK:

Two Units are Required.

1. Grammar: Goodwin's Greek Grammar and White's Greek Lesons or their equivalent.
2. Texts: Four books Xenophon's Anabasis with special reference to forms and syntax. Selections from Herodotus with special reference to the Ionic dialect.
3. Prose Composition. Translation into Greek of easy Attic prose based on the Anabasis.

HISTORY:

One Unit is Required.

1. Myers' Ancient History or its equivalent. Courses in General History, English History or advanced American History may be substituted.

SCIENCE:

One Unit is Required.

1. Biology: A year's work in biological study, preferably laboratory work. An equivalent in Chemistry or Physics will be accepted.

MATHEMATICS:

Three Units are Required.

1. Algebra including Quadratic Equations, problems depending upon Quadratic Equations and arithmetical and geometrical progresion.
2. Geometry: Wentworth's Revised Book including both plane and solid Geometry, with the solution of numerous original exercises.

ENGLISH:

Three and One-Half Units are Required.

1. Composition: At least one year's work is required in the study of some text of Composition and Rhetoric. Applicants will be required to write a short essay on some familiar theme. Punctuation, paragraphing and spelling will be critically examined.
2. Literature: The College entrance requirements in English furnish the basis of requirements for reading and for critical study.

BIBLE:

One-Half Unit is Required.

1. The Bible is used as a text, special reference being given to Biblical geography, customs, antiquities and history.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION.

But one course of study is offered for the completion of which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given. The College work covers a period of four academic years, which are divided into three terms of fourteen weeks each. Seventeen recitation periods per week are required, making a total, for each year, of 51 term hours, and a total, for the course of four years, of 204 hours. 152 hours work are prescribed, and 52 are elective.

The several departments, and the number of hours required in each, are given below, also the number of hours of elective work in the several departments.

SUBJECTS.	REQUIRED.	ELECTIVE.

International Law.		5

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION.

LATIN.

DR. ARTHUR L. WOLFE.

Throughout the entire Latin course much use is made of the reference library, rich in works on philosophy, archæology and history. Grammar is not discarded, but is relegated to a secondary place by the end of the Freshman year. Stress is laid upon intelligent reading of the text in the original, and upon advance sight reading. The constant aim is to secure not only an exact and sympathetic understanding of the text, but such a correlation of each subject with general history, literature and the concerns of modern life as to give it a vital interest and broad cultural value.

1. Livy. I. 1. 4 Hours.

Book XXI or XXII with thorough grammatical reviews and resume of Roman political history.

2. Cicero's De Senectute. I. 2. 5 Hours.

Biographical studies of representative Romans. Comparison of English literary parallels.

†Roman numerals indicate the years; i. e., 1 Freshman year. Arabic numerals indicate the terms; i. e., I First term.

3. Odes of Horace. I. 3. 4 Hours.

Historical and literary allusions, poetic imagery and phraseology, comparison of English lyrics, and translations into English verse. Latin prosody.

Latin prose based upon idioms encountered in the reading is maintained throughout the year.

4. Satires and Epistles of Horace. II. 1. 4 Hours.

With investigations into Roman private life and philosophy.

5. Letters of Cicero. II. 2. 4 Hours.

Roman politics in last age of Republic, special usages of epistolary Latin.

6. Plautus: Captivi and Trinummus. II. 3. 4 Hours.

The Roman theatre and drama, prosody, syntactic and phonetic development of Latin.

Throughout this year studies in Roman archæology and in advanced prose composition are carried on, and two prizes of $10 and $5 respectively are offered to those who stand highest in these subjects, having taken the full three terms work.

7. Epicurean Philosophy. III. IV. 1. 4 Hours, 1906-1907.

Lucretius, Book V; Cicero's De Natura Deorum: lectures and research.

8. Roman Law. III and IV. 2. 5 Hours, 1906-1907.

Selections from the Digest and Institutes of Gaius and Justinian, influence of civil law on common law, comparison of legal principles and usages in Rome, England and this state.

9. Teachers' Course. III and IV. 3. 5 Hours, 1906-1907.

Review of elements of grammar in the light of comparative phonology and syntax, comparison of texts and editions, study of methods of teaching Academic Latin.

10. Tacitus. III and IV. 1. 4 Hours, 1907-1908.

Germania and Agricola; the Romans in Britain and on the Rhine, Roman provincial administration, the Germanic irruptions and kingdoms established on the ruins of the Western Empire.

11. Latin Literature. III and IV. 2. 5 Hours, 1907-1908.

General survey illustrated by comparison with English men of letters.

12. Augustine's De Civitate Dei. III and IV. 3. 5 Hours, 1907-1908.

Selections: The movement of Christian thought and effect of Roman politics and jurisprudence upon theology, illustrated by the greatest of the church fathers.

ART.

DR. ARTHUR L. WOLFE.

Vasari's Lives. Biographical Monographs and bound volumes of magazines afford valuable and abundant reference matter, supplemental to the histories of art. The Courses are illustrated throughout with photographs and prints.

1. History of Art. III. 3. 4 Hours.

Cursory survey of Egyptian, Greek and Roman painting, and biographical study of Italian art from Cimabue to Salvator Rosa three periods weekly. Lectures on Architecture one period weekly.

2. History of Art. IV. 1. 4 Hours.

General history of painting in Europe, outside of Italy, from the 16th to the 19th Centuries, with an introduction to the leading American artists.

SACRED HISTORY.

DR. T. G. BURT.

The aim is practical and cultural. A working knowledge of God's inspired Word—the Book of the world—and a brief topical study of Jewish history as introductory to Christianity—the religion for the world—are essential and fundamental. Then follows a philosophic study of Christianity and the history of the Christian church with constant emphasis upon the efficacy and adaptability of the Christian religion and of its cultural value as the prime factor in social evolution. The study of and reference to the Biblical text is essential and constant throughout the entire course as are the principles of algebra to higher mathematics.

1. New Testament History. I. 1. 1 Hour.

The history of the Jews from the Restoration to the birth of Christ. The connection between the Old and New Testaments.

2. New Testament History. I. 2. 1 Hour.

A comparative study of the four Gospels and a careful study of the Life of Christ.

3. New Testament History. I. 3. 1 Hour.
The Acts of the Apostles. History of the organization and development of the early Christian church.
 4. New Testament History. II. 1. 1 Hour.
A study of the life of Paul and of his missionary work.
 5. New Testament History. II. 2. 1 Hour.
The Pauline Epistles and the people for whom they were written.
 6. New Testament History. II. 3. 1 Hour.
The General Epistles. A brief resume of the history of the Church up to 325.
 7. Sacred History. III. 1. 3 Hours.
The history of religion—a philosophic study of the great religions of the world, emphasizing always the divine origin and the transcendent value of Christianity. A text is used. Lectures, notes and readings supplement the text.
 8. Sacred History. III. 2. 3 Hours.
The History of religion continues.
 9. Sacred History. III. 3. 2 Hours.
Evidences of Christianity. A text book with lectures and constant reference to accesible works together with a thesis on some assigned subject make up the term's work
 10. Sacred History. IV. 1. 3 Hours.
History of the Christian church from 325 until the Reformation. Constant emphasis is laid on the efficacy and adaptability of Christianity to satisfy the fixed as well as the changing needs of the human race.

11. Sacred History. IV. 2. 4 Hours.

A brief history of the Reformation and of the Reformed Church up to 1800.

12. Sacred History. IV. 3. 3 Hours.

A study of the great missionary movement of the 19th century—the promise of God being fulfilled.

PHYSICS.

PROF. HOWARD A. DEAN.

Throughout the year Gage's "Principles of Physics" is used as a text, supplemented by lectures and references with laboratory work 4 hours per week. Special emphasis is put on practical application by demonstrations and problems.

1. Physics. II. 1. 4 Hours.

A Course in Mechanics.

2. Physics. II. 2. 4 Hours.

A Course in Sound and Heat.

3. Physics. II. 3. 4 Hours.

A Course in Light and Electricity.

CHEMISTRY.

PROF. HOWARD A. DEAN.

1. Chemistry. II. 2. 4 Hours.

A Course in General Chemistry. Six hours of laboratory work are required. Newell's "Descriptive Chemistry" is used as a text, supplemented by lectures and special experiments.

2. Chemistry. II. 3. 5 Hours.

A Course in Qualitative Analysis, outlined from "Fresenius." Eight hours' laboratory work are required.

HISTORY.

PROF. JAMES M. MATTHEWS.

1. History. II. 1. 5 Hours.

History of Mediaeval and Modern Institutions. Myers' revised text is used for general outline of the great historical movements since the fall of Rome. Lectures and special analysis of important events are given. Extensive side reading and term theses also constitute part of the regular work.

2. History. II. 3. 4 Hours.

Cheyney's English History is studied, together with lectures, outline work, collateral reading and essays.

3. History. III. 2. 4 Hours.

American History. The two history courses in II. 1 and 3 are designed to lead by a natural, logical development to the philosophical study of our own institutions. The power of memory is not emphasized in this work so much as the student's ability to analyze peculiar conditions and events. Note book work is required, also special quizzes and written reviews, and an extensive use of a well equipped library. The text followed in this study is Channing's Student's History of the United States.

4. History. IV. 1. 3 Hours.

History of Revolutionary Europe, 1789-1815. This course is intended as a somewhat technical analysis of European conditions as indicated and influenced by the great upheaval in France in this period. Revolutionary Europe by Morse Stephens is used as a general text, together with lectures and outline work, written reviews and special productions.

5. History. IV. 2. 4 Hours.

History of the 19th Century, 1815-1899. This course is a companion study of the History of Revolutionary Europe 1789-1815, IV. 1. 3. Modern Europe by Allison Phillips is followed as a general text. Also special topics are assigned in Seignobos' Political History of Europe as translated by MacVane. Independent reading is further emphasized as far as may be possible with carefully compiled notes.

6. History. IV. 2. 3 Hours.

History of Education. Great educators and the great educational systems are studied. Seeley's History of Education is used by the class with Compayre, Painte and other works of reference.

7. History. IV. 3. 5 Hours.

History of Civilization. Guizot's Lectures on the History of the Civilization of Modern Europe are studied. This work may be supplemented by lecture parallel readings and theses. This course is intended to be a philosophical analysis of the various elements of civilization.

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

PROF. JAMES M. MATTHEWS.

1. Economics. III. 2. 3 Hours.

An advanced text in Political Economy by Walker is used for the regular recitations. Lectures are given at the discretion of the teacher. Popular discussions, general analysis of economic questions, occasional debates between picked members of the class, and written reviews also constitute a part of the course.

International Law. III. 3. 4 Hours.

The history and character of International law are considered followed by an exposition of the rules which generally govern the modern states in their intercourse. Quizzes and written reviews lectures and reference work. The text in this subject is International Law by Davis.

SOCIOLOGY.

PROF. JAMES M. MATTHEWS.

Sociology. IV. 1. 3 Hours.

Blackmar's Sociology is used for regular class work. The study of modern sociological problems is attempted with extensive side readings from other texts and from the current writings of reputable men.

LITERATURE.

PROF. WILLIAM H. COOPER.

The courses in Literature are designed to give the student both a spiritual and a critical appreciation of "what great men and women thought and felt, and then wrote down in good prose or beautiful poetry in the English language," and to assist them in tracing the great movements—social, ethical and aesthetic—of English and American life and thought from Chaucer to the present.

1. Literature. III. 1. 3 Hours.

In this course, simultaneously with the development of English Literature, are studied the lives and masterpieces of the most prominent English authors. At the beginning of the term, a number of poetic and prose selections which have been chosen to illustrate the distinguishing characteristics of the authors to be studied in the course, is assigned for special study to each student. Carefully prepared reviews of these selections, in addition to the text, are required before credit is given at the close of the term.

Text: Simonds' "History of English Literature."

2. Literature. III. 2. 3 Hours.

The work of III. 1 is continued, and special emphasis is laid upon Literary criticism.

3. Shakespeare. III. 3. 5 Hours.

A critical and sympathetic study of the Dramas of this master is designed to lead the student to an appreciation of the qualities—dramatic, aesthetic and ethical—that have made Shakespeare King of Poets and Dramatists.

The following dramas, representing each of the four working periods of Shakespeare's life are studied and outlined by each student: King Richard III; Midsummer Night's Dream; Love's Labor Lost; Twelfth Night; As You Like it; King Lear; Hamlet; Julius Caesar; Macbeth; Othello; Cymbeline; The Tempest; A Winter's Tale; King Henry VIII. Preliminary to the study of each play, lectures and notes based upon Freytag, "The Technique of the Drama," and Moulton, "Shakespeare as a Dramatic Artist," are given by the instructor.

4. The American Short Story. IV. 1. 4 Hours.

The student is required to deduce the laws and technique of the short story from his findings upon examination of a prescribed list of the best American Short Stories. A number of "beginnings" and "endings," two original short stories in the term, and a Thesis at the end of the term, are required of each student.

5. History of American Literature. IV. 2. 4 Hours.

In this course less time is given to the study of the development of American Literature than was given to the development of English Literature, and more time is spent with special authors, such as Irving, Bryant, Poe, Emerson, Hawthorne, Thoreau, Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, Holmes, Whitman and Lanier. Reviews of assigned selections are required as in III. 1 and 2.

6. Poetry. IV. 3. 5 Hours .

A comparative study is made of the leading Victorian poets—Tennyson and Browning.

7. Literature. III and IV. 1, 2 and 3. 1 Hour.

Students in III and IV are required to attend one session of the "Rhetoricals" each week, and to appear upon the program once a term. Special drill is given in the preparation for such appearance. Students who are preparing to take part in other public programs, or in oratorical contests, are given careful and thorough drill. Each student in III and IV is required to read one masterpiece from a posted list each term, and, in the reading course examination of the term, to prove that he has read the book intelligently and studiously.

MATHEMATICS.

PROF. A. M. MATTOON.

1. Trigonometry. I. 1. 5 Hours.

The text used is Mattoon's Essentials of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; and the aim is to give the student the ability to solve any sort of triangle and to apply the principles of triangulation to any of the practical problems.

2. Theory of Equations. I. 2. 2 Hours.

This study embraces a review of some of the more important cases in the solution of Quadratic Equations and such drill as shall lead the student to comprehend the province of the Equation as the representative of the Geometrical Concepts. The text used is Mattoon's Introduction to the Theory of Equations.

3. Analytic Geometry. I. 3. 4 Hours.

Such portions of Nichols' Analytic Geometry as treat of rectilinear figures, the Conic Sections and some of the Higher Plane Curves, are studied.

4. Calculus. II. 2 and 3. 4 Hours.

Osborne's Differential and Integral Calculus has been the text book in use; and those portions have been covered that demonstrate the rules for differentiation and integration, Leibnitz', McLaurin's and Taylor's Theorems, and a wide range of practical examples both in Differential and Integral Calculus. During the last term of the work, two days each month are taken for the study of the instruments in the Observatory, with special reference to the mathematical principles involved in their use.

5. Surveying and Civil Engineering. III. 1. 4 Hours.

No formal text book is used in this term's work, but the students first are taught how to adjust the instruments; and then go afield and run surveys of farm lands, make practice surveys of railroads and railroad curves, do leveling for section, for street grades and for drainage or irrigation. After the surveys are made, the field notes are computed and reduced to plots, drawn to scale.

6. Senior Mathematics. IV. 2. 3 Hours.

A choice is offered the class between:

(1) Advanced work in Analytic Geometry and Calculus; or

(2) A term in the study of Navigation, the latter taught by lectures and solution of the principal problems of practical Navigation.

ASTRONOMY.

PROF. A. M. MATTOON.

1. Manual of Astronomy. III. 1. 3 Hours and 3. 2 Hours.

The work will follow mainly Young's Manual of Astronomy and the text book will be supplemented by observations, taken with the equatorial telescope and transit instruments in the Observatory.

2. Practical Astronomy. IV. 1. 4 Hours.

Standard text books by several authors are in the hands of the class, to guide in taking observations; and the students determine time, latitude and longitude and compute current eclipses. Under the head of "Buildings" will be found a description of the excellent equipment of our Charles Smith Scott Observatory, the apparatus of which is specially for use in instructing classes in Astronomy, both General and Practical.

3. Spherical Astronomy. IV. 2. 3 Hours.

The work of this term consists mainly in the applications of Spherical Trigonometry to the problems involved upon the celestial sphere.

PHILOSOPHY.

PROF. SILAS EVANS.

The course in Philosophy differs somewhat in method and content from year to year as the interests may determine. The general aim throughout is to develop in the student mind the philosophic spirit, to think with breadth and consistency, and to appreciate the great movements of human thought.

1. Psychology. IV. 1. 4 Hours.

This is a central discipline. It presupposes an elementary knowledge of the structure and function of the nervous system. Some attention is given to the empirical methods but the main emphasis is laid upon the rational aspect of Psychology. The course aims to introduce the student to the whole field of mental science. Dewey's text is used, and also assigned reading and lectures.

2. Logic. IV. 1. 2 Hours.

This course presents the vital processes of thought as well as the more formal processes; Application of correct thinking to concrete problems; Detection of fallacies and analysis of arguments, both Inductive and Deductive, and their correlation in modern theory. The work consists of assigned exercises and Creighton's text is used.

3. History of Philosophy. IV. 2. 5 Hours.

This course aims to acquaint the student with philosophical problems as unfolded in the history of speculation. The great cardinal systems are presented in their relation to the science and culture of the different periods of world history, and studied in outline from early Greek to modern times. A series of lectures on Philosophy will occupy one period per week throughout the term. A thesis on Kant is required. The text is Schwegler's History of Philosophy.

4. Ethics. IV. 3. 3 Hours.

The history of ethical theory is briefly reviewed. A discussion of the grounds of Ethics and its relation to Metaphysics, Psychology, and practical life. No theory of ethics is dogmatically accepted. Lectures and recitations on Calderwood's Hand-Book and Palmer's Field of Ethics constitute the work.

5. Theism. IV. 2. 3 Hours.

Elective. A course of Lectures. Assigned reading in the literature of the subject with reports.

6. Metaphysics. IV. 3. 5 Hours.

Elective. A course of lectures. Class investigations and class discussions.

GERMAN.

PROF. J. W. HORNBEAK AND MISS IDA E. STEM.

A thorough grammatical and reading knowledge is aimed at and with this is combined work in prose composition. The work varies from year to year but a general outline would be as follows:

1. Grammar. I. 2. 3 Hours.

Joynes-Meissner's Grammar, Part I; Brandt's Reader.

2. Grammar and Reading. I. 3. 2 Hours.

Grammar, Part I reviewed and Part II; Brandt's Reader continued; Schiller's Wilhelm Tell. Sight reading; Höher als die Kirche, Onkel und Nichte, Das Kalte Herz or some such work as taken from Heath's Modern Language Series.

3. 4. 5. Reading. II. 1. 2. 3. 5 Hours.

Grammar, reviewed and Part III; Schiller's Jungfrau. Lessing's Minna von Barnhelm; Heine's Prosa. Sight reading, Bibliothekar, Köp-nickerstrasse or Geschichten vom Rhein. Grammar (Whitney's) with prose composition. Goethe's Faust, Part I; Klenze's Deutsche Gedichte; German Literature.

September 1907 material change will be made in the work of the department.

RHETORIC.

PROF. J. H. LAWRENCE AND EDWIN H. ZION.

The purpose of the entire course is to secure for the student greater ease, accuracy, and elegance in the use of English. This end is sought in two ways: First, by studying the principles of composition as they are given in the text-book and as they have been vitalized by the great prose writers, and second, by constant practice in writing themes. The emphasis is placed upon the latter.

1. The Elements of Vocal Expression. I. 1. 3 Hours.
A study in correct breathing, inflection, emphasis and action.

2. English Composition. II. 2. 3. 3 Hours.
A study of the forms of discourse with reference to structure and style. Genung's Practical Rhetoric. Weekly themes.

3. Argumentation. II. 1. 3 Hours.
A study of the principles and methods of Conviction and Persuasion. Baker's text is followed. Frequent exercises in brief writing and debating.

4. English Prose. II. 2. 3. 3 Hours.
An inductive study of the principles of Style and Invention as they appear in the great prose. Bacon, Milton, Addison, Macaulay, Ruskin and others are read. A study of the nature, structure and types of the oration. Some of the great masterpieces of oratory, with something of the circumstances of their delivery, are studied.

5. Poetics. IV. 1. 3 Hours.
A study of the theory, nature and structure of poetry. Lectures exercises, references, readings and Seminar.

6. The Drama. IV. 2. 4 Hours.
A study of the law and technique of the drama. The structure of the Shakespearean plays are specially studied, with references to other masterpieces of the drama. Lectures on the modern play.

7. English Reading. I and II. 1. 2. 3.
Every student stands an examination each term on at least one masterpiece selected from a prescribed course. Individual drill is given the Freshman and Sophomores in declamatory work. Their work in the weekly

Rhetoricals partly determines the choice of speakers for the Prize Contests of Commencement week.

Material changes have been planned for this department which will be announced at the opening of the college year September 1907.

BIOLOGY.

PROF. MERLIN C. FINLAY.

The work as outlined here presupposes a knowledge of elementary Physiology, and one term's work on the Crayfish or Frog, or their equivalent. The purpose of this department is to familiarize the student with the structure, function and development of animals and plants, both living and fossil. The method of study is four-fold; first, careful observation of the specimen in hand, including dissecting and the use of the microscope; second, pen-sketching of important organs; third, reference reading and discussion of obscure points; fourth, lectures and quizzes. The subjects of the Senior year are elective, and those of the Junior year are required. Laboratory work is required in all subjects, except Geology, and two hours of such work is reckoned as one in the outline below. A small fee is required of each student as rental for the use of the microscope and dissecting instruments.

1. General Biology. III. 1. 3 Hours.

This includes a study of the structure and uses of the compound microscope, the elements of pen-sketching as applied to Biology and the form and functions of unicellular plants and animals. A few slime-molds and fungi are included. Stress is laid on the first principles which govern the simplest lives. Sedgwick and Wilson's General Biology and Parker and Haswell's Text-book, Vol. 1, are the texts used.

2. Invertebrate Anatomy. III. 2. 3 Hours.

This is a comparative study of the structure and functions of Sponges, Polyps and Medusae, Corals and Worms. Special attention is paid to the study of animal tissues, to the life histories and to the economic importance of animals in general. The texts are the same as for the preceding term.

3. Phenogamic Botany. III. 3. 5 Hours.

The Morphology, Physiology and Histology of Flowering Plants are carefully studied from selected types found abundantly in this locality. Bergen's Foundations of Botany, with Key and Flora, is in the hands of each student. Reference readings form an important feature of this subject.

4. Cryptogamic Botany. IV. 1. 4 Hours.

Algae, Fungae and Bacteria are studied with especial reference to plant physiology. Emphasis is laid on the culture of micro-organisms, and the relation of Botany to Horticulture, Agriculture and Medicine.

5. Entomology. IV. 1. 3 Hours.

The Metamorphosis of Insects and their adaption to environment receives most emphasis in this term's work. Each student collects and classifies a selected list of insects from this vicinity in order to learn the principles of Taxonomy. Attention is directed to the injurious and beneficial species, spiders, scorpions and other animals closely related, and reviewed by lectures. Needham's Lessons in Zoology, Comstock's Manual and Howard's Insects are in the hands of the students for daily use. The reference library is well equipped in this line.

6. Vertebrate Anatomy. IV. 2. 4 Hours.

This term is devoted to the comparative study of Vertebrates. The types usually selected are such as Amphioxus, the Dogfish, the Frog and the Cat. Marshall & Hurst's Practical Zoology and Marshall's Frog furnish most of the laboratory outlines. Parker and Haswell's Zoology, Vol. II is the text. Constant use is made of the human skeleton and models for comparisons.

7. Embryology. IV. 3. 5 Hours.

Fish, Frog, Snail and Hen's Eggs form the basis of study. Microtome sections of eggs and embryos are made and sketched. The technique of sectioning and mounting is practised. Near the end of this term a few recitations are given to a rapid review of the Animal Kingdom. Hertwig's Zoology is used for this purpose.

8. Structural Geology. IV. 2. 4 Hours.

LeConte's Text-Book and Scott's Introduction are in the hands of the students. Daily recitations are interspersed with informal talks on the geology of this section. A well selected and classified collection of rocks and minerals affords ample means for illustration of the text.

9. Historical Geology. IV. 3. 5 Hours.

The texts are the same as for the previous term, but this term may be elected without the previous work. Lectures are more frequent. The entire range of plant and animal classification is reviewed, and the development and relationships of past and present forms are traced. Wherever possible, excursions are made to quarries and neighboring places of geological interest.

Subjects numbered 5, 8 and 9, are intended to be cultural. Numbers 4, 6 and 7, are more technical.

GREEK.

PROF. ROY V. MAGERS.

1. Homer. I. 1. 4 Hours.

During this term a careful study is made of Homer's dialect. Books I and II of the Iliad are usually read. Greek mythology is investigated, as far as time permits.

2. Homer. I. 2. 5 Hours.

Book III and extended selections from Books IV, V and VI of the Iliad. The class is required to read and report upon Chapters I-III of Jebb's "Homer."

3. "Timon the Misanthrope" and "Hunters of Euboea."
I. 3. 4 Hours.

The term is equally divided between these two works of Lucian and Dio Chrysostom.

4. Lysias. II. 1. 4 Hours.

Five or six of the orations of Lysias are read, and a study is made of Greek legal, political and social institutions. Steropticon lectures.

5. Greek Drama. II. 2. 4 Hours.

Sophocles' "Antigone" is read in the original and analyzed. Numerous lectures on the history and characteristics of Greek Drama. All the plays of Sophocles are read in Plumptre's translation, with a view to literary interpretation. These are required, on assigned subjects.

6. Plato. II. 3. 4 Hours.

The "Apology" and "Crito" are used as texts. Special study of the life, work and influence of Socrates.

7. Greek History. III and IV. 1 and 2. 4 Hours.

This course extends through two terms, and is designed to give the student a complete view of Greek History from the period of the Persian invasions through the close of the Peloponnesian War. Lectures are given on the three great historians and other topics, and students are required to do much outside reading on assigned subjects. The lives and achievements of the great characters in Greek History are specially investigated. The Greek reading consists of selections from Herodotus, Thucydides (Book VII) and Xenophon's "Hellenica."

8. Greek Oratory. III and IV. 3. 5 Hours.

To follow the course in History. Reading Demosthenese's "Philippics," lectures and investigation.

9. Lyric Poetry. III and IV. 1. 4 Hours.

Selections from various Greek poets; lectures, and a comparative study of Greek and English lyrics.

10. Greek Philosophy. III and IV. 2. 5 Hours .

Lectures and assigned reading on the various philosophers, but particularly the Sophists, Socrates and Plato. Selections are read from Xenophon's "Memorabilia" in connection with the study of Socrates.

11. Greek Tragedy. III and IV. 3. 5 Hours.

Reading from Euripides or Aeschylus. Lectures and collateral reading.

GENERAL STATEMENTS.

BUILDINGS.

Woodward Hall—The historic stone building, which for many years was the center of college life, is located but a few feet from the railroad station of the Burlington and Rock Island Railways. It is now used for men's dormitories, and bears the name of Woodward Hall in memory of the late Rev. George S. Woodward.

McCormick Chapel—McCormick was erected in 1887. The auditorium of 900 sittings is the largest on the campus, and serves for the general gatherings and the Chapel exercises of the institution. The Presbyterian church of Parkville also uses it for public services.

Mackay Building—Mackay was begun in 1887, and was occupied March 13th, 1893. It is a stone building, four stories including the basement. The lecture halls are large, light and well ventilated. The laboratories are conveniently located. The library has a temporary home in it, pending the completion of a separate Library building.

The Charles Smith Scott Astronomical Observatory—The Observatory was erected and equipped in 1898 by Mr. Anthony Dey, of New York City. The material is white lime stone. From the crown of the hill it overlooks the entire campus, and is within easy access from all parts of it.

Labor Hall—This building was erected in 1906, and as its name suggests, is the headquarters of the student self-help department. It contains a swimming pool 30'x60', shower baths, an ample supply of lockers, tool rooms, and a modest gymnasium.

Library—A gift has been received from Mr. Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a Library Building. Work was begun upon it in the summer of 1906. It is hoped to have it completed and ready for occupancy before the opening of the school year, 1907-1908.

Alumni Building—A generous gift from the Alumni Association made possible the erection in 1904 of the Alumni Building. The building is of stone, and is an ornament to the campus. The auditorium of 300 sittings is used for student gatherings of that number and smaller, and for the weekly rhetorical exercises of both college and academy. The officers of the Alumni Association have an office in it, and several guest rooms are provided for the comfort of the alumni when on the campus. A banqueting hall seating 200 or more, offers a suitable place for the social life of students and alumni.

Pumping Station—A well equipped pumping station, with ample settling basins, erected in 1897, is located near the river. An abundant supply of pure water is thereby guaranteed for the campus and all the buildings on it.

Heating and Lighting Plant—The building for the heating and lighting plant, with the installation of service in all the buildings of the campus, was completed in 1906. The heat is steam, and is ample for the needs of the campus. In the same plant is located an electrical dynamo, which furnishes electricity for all the buildings and the campus.

Dormitories—Six large buildings provide homes and dormitories for students. Two are occupied by men, and four by women. In the latter dining room facilities are ample for the accommodation of the young men of the dormitories.

Cottages—The institution owns nine cottages, which are occupied by the President and members of the Faculty.

THE MUSEUM.

A small collection has been made for a Museum of Natural History. The available space in the halls of Mackay, and in the Biology rooms is occupied by cases containing the specimens, a majority of which have been classified. The collection includes a human skeleton, also one of the cat and the frog, skulls of the sheep, horse and fish, three type specimens of each class of invertebrates, together with a large collection of eggs of the fish and sea-urchin. The insect cabinet contains a thousand local insects, among which are seven hundred Lepidoptera, and 200 Coleoptera, with several rare specimens from New York and California. Botany is represented by fifty native wood sections, and by an herbarium of the plants of New York, the gift of S. J. Teran, with the early summer flora of Missouri.

The educational series of rocks furnished by the U. S. Geological Survey includes one hundred and fifty rocks, minerals and fossils from all parts of the country, carefully arranged and labeled. With these appear some local Geodes and Lamellibranches. A few very valuable specimens of gold and silver ores, some beautiful abalone shells, corals and Echinoderms from the Pacific have been recently donated by Mrs. George Lawrence in memory of her son, Park.

Park graduates on the mission fields have generously favored their Alma Mater. A fine collection of African weapons, musical instruments, household utensils, wearing apparel, rosaries and idols is a valuable one. Our alumni missionaries in China, India, Laos, Siam and Korea have placed in the museum many of the objects of interest of their respective countries, such as coins, articles of wearing apparel, models of buildings, implements of agriculture, and of devices for the preparation of their food. Residents in Colorado, Alaska, Southern Missouri and Arizona have supplied mineral specimens and other articles characteristic of these widely scattered territories.

The late Rev. Mead Holmes, Rockford, Ill., gave the college the large and valuable collection which was the result of years of arduous work of his daughter, the late Miss Mary E. Holmes Ph. D. The collection is in five departments, botanical, geological, conchological, ornithological and entomological. Many of the specimens have been classified and arranged in cabinets and cases in accordance with the classification given. The birds and reptiles are mounted and most of them arranged in cases specially decorated for them.

DAILY CHAPEL.

The Chapel Assembly held each school day in McCormick Chapel at one o'clock, is a required service. The Chapel period is thirty minutes. Avail is taken of the opportunity to drill in chorus singing. College and other secular songs are often employed as well as church hymns and the gospel songs. A passage of scripture of greater or less length is read or recited in concert or response each day. It is understood that each student shall be supplied with hymn book and Bible. The "talks" are topical rather than expository of the scriptures, though the passage usually has some near or remote connection with the line of remark. The thought is kept constantly in mind that the service, while being classical, is strictly a religious and spiritual one. The chaplain conducts every service, speaking at least twice each week. At the three remaining services, some other member of the Faculty or visiting friend makes a ten minute address. Too much can not be said of the real, practical value of this service as a power for character building. Time is taken in the middle of the day, while the stress and strain of the day's service is greatest, to pause in body and mind, and consider those higher interests which make the others worth the effort. This Assembly furnishes a daily opportunity for the college life to flow to a common center. The most of the business meetings of the almost numberless student organizations are held during a few unoccupied moments in the college programme immediately following this general gathering. The various events and features of the general college programme are much discussed at the assembly. The aim is to induce by every means the entire body to feel a genuine community of interest in the college life, and to keep the standards of life toned up by an appeal to moral and religious principles.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.

The new building now being erected by the gift of Mr. Carnegie is well under way, and will probably be ready for use within the next year. Until more complete accommodations are provided it will be used as an open stack library. Pending the completion of this structure the available portion of the library is located in two rooms on the main floor of the Mackay building. These rooms are large, well lighted, heated and ventilated; and are furnished with conveniences for quiet reading and study.

The library at present contains over 15,000 volumes, of which about 800 are bound magazines. The only large gift ever received for purchase of books was made several years ago by Mr. Stanley R. McCormick, who generously placed $4,200 at the disposal of the college for library material. This sum was judiciously expended under direction of the heads of the different departments; a large number of volumes was added from many sources; and as a result the college has a library which, for the practical use of college students, has no superior in the state.

In the reading room will be found the leading illustrated magazines and current periodicals, both monthly and weekly. On the reference shelves are the bound magazines, together with encyclopedias, general reference works, and books selected from the historical, scientific, literary and philosophical departments. Leading religious papers, Y. M. C. A. and missionary literature and Sunday School lesson helps are also on file.

The library is classified by the Dewey decimal system, with Dictionary Card index, and receives the constant attention of the librarian and assistants. Subject to ordinary regulations its advantages are enjoyed not only by the faculty and students, but also by the community at large, without fee.

THE CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

The Chemical Laboratory occupies rooms in the lower floor of Mackay and is equipped with the usual facilities for all ordinary chemical work. The students' desks, thirty-two in number, are constructed with lockers and drawers for individual use. They are furnished with gas, water and electricity. The smoke stacks, formerly used for the furnaces, are equipped for hoods, thereby insuring perfect ventilation, and the immediate removal of all noxious gases. A condenser connected with the steam mains furnishes distilled water in any quantity needed. The floor of the lecture room is elevated in tiers, affording an unobstructed view of the demonstrator's desk. A work room adjoining is equipped with the necessary conveniences for the demand. A library ample in its quality and quantity is accessible to each student.

PHYSICAL LABORATORY.

The laboratory has adequate equipment for demonstrative purposes for the general work in the subjects as pursued by students in physical measurements, electrical measurements, and for the simple experiments in sound, heat and light. Desks are equipped for individual student work. The laboratory is supplied with gas, water and electricity. A two hundred and twenty volt, direct current, is available, with storage battery for smaller current. The department library contains one hundred or more well selected volumes, to which additions are made from time to time as there is demand.

ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATORY.

The Charles Smith Scott Observatory building is located on an elevation above Mackay building. It is equipped with an eight-inch Warner and Swasey equatorial telescope, having ten eye pieces, magnifying four hundred eight diameters, a filar micrometer with electrically lighted wires, and a helioscope. It is mounted equatorially and provided with a driving clock. The sidereal transit room is equipped with a three-inch sidereal Warner and Swasey transit, properly mounted; a Riefler, break-circuit, astronomical clock, and a Warner and Swasey chronograph. The lecture room is ample for the needs of small class computation work. The library is sufficient for the needs of the department and is being increased annually. The lecture room in Mackay is provided with a Henry Fitz four and one-half inch portable equatorial telescope. It is available for constant mechanical study during the day and for student use at night for astronomical observation.

BIOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

Main laboratory is in the southeast basement of Mackay. It contains thirty-two desks, fitted with lockers and the usual accessories. Each desk is supplied with a dissecting and compound microscope and a dissecting case. A reference library of four hundred volumes and a case for filing current magazines and bulletins occupies the room. Here are stored aquaria, nets, setting boards and similar apparatus.

Across the hallway is a Physical laboratory for elementary work. It is fitted with plain tables and chairs, a skeleton and a few models. Each table is supplied with lenses. It will be more fully equipped in the near future.

An advanced laboratory seating twelve students occupies the first floor, southeast corner. Besides the desks it contains cases for the storage of glassware and instruments. Among these are incubators, sterilizers, paraffine ovens and microtomes. One hundred charts, two hundred slides, dissections and models are stored here. Five hundred standard reference books on science occupy the cases and are available at all times. A mezzanine extending over one-third of this room has been added recently. This materially increases the floor space available for storage purposes.

The science lecture room adjoins the advance laboratory. It contains thirty-eight sittings, arranged in amphitheater style, with demonstrating tables in the center. It is well lighted and contains a geological reference library of one hundred volumes.

LECTURES AND ADDRESSES.

We are specially favored during the year in visits from leading men, both clergymen and laymen, who bring to the students messages that are very much appreciated. Our proximity to Kansas City makes possible a few hours' visit from our friends who are passing across the continent.

Since the last issue of the catalog the following have been with us at our Chapel hour or given us general or popular addresses ;

- Rev. L. A. Northrup, D. D., Kansas City, Mo.
Former Pastor First Baptist Church.
- Rev. William J. McCaughan, D. D., Chicago, Ill.
Pastor Third Presbyterian Church.
- James M. Greenwood, Kansas City, Mo.
Supt. Public Schools.
- Rev. Cleland B. McAfee, D. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Pastor Lafayette Ave., Presbyterian Church.
- Miss Mary A. Sawyer, Oxford, Ohio.

- Hon. Edwin Taylor, Edwardsville, Kan.
Ex-State Senator.
- Rev. Paul B. Jenkins, Kansas City, Mo.
Pastor Linwood Ave. Presbyterian Church.
- Rev. John B. Hill, D. D., Kansas City, Mo.
Synodical Missionary, Missouri.
- Miss Edith Hughes, Burton, Kan.
Traveling Secretary Woman's Board Home Missions.
- Miss Elva Fleming, M. D., Wei Hsien, China.
Medical Missionary under Presbyterian Board.
- Rev. Frank S. Brainard, Kansas City, Kan.
- Rev. Frank S. Arnold, D. D., Kansas City, Mo.
Pastor First Presbyterian Church.
- Rev. Frank M. Carson, D. D., Chicago, Ill.
Pastor Lake View Presbyterian Church.

MASTER'S DEGREES.

The Master's degree will be given upon satisfactory examinations in post graduate studies, not earlier than two years after graduation when non-resident work is done, or after one year of resident work. Courses will be outlined in any department upon request.

FEES.

For Master's Degree.....	$10.00
Diploma (optional)	2.50
Payable $5 upon enrollment, the balance one year thereafter.
Fee for diploma payable when ordered.

ESTIMATED ANNUAL EXPENSES.

Board $3 to $4 per week (43 weeks)....	$129	to	$172
Tuition per term $10.....	30		30
Laboratory fees.	3		3

The Board of Trustees forbids the admission of any student to class room privileges until all dues have been satisfied.

Personal expenses are what the individual students make them and cannot be definitely stated.

GOVERNMENT.

1. The general requirements and restrictions of the Faculty apply to all students of the institution.

2. Tobacco, liquor, cards or games of chance and profane language are forbidden. This requirement is in force as long as a student retains connection with the institution; absence from Parkville does not release from it.

3. Students are expected to attend at least one church service and one Sabbath School session each Sabbath. Weekly reports are made at the office of the President.

4. Students may find boarding places in the village with families where the following conditions are met:

(a)—Daily family worship is maintained.

(b)—The lady of the house will become responsible for the observance of the study hours, beginning with seven o'clock each evening.

(c)—She will not allow her lady boarders to accept the company of gentlemen without the approval of the Dean of the women.

5. Students, after obtaining the approval of the Faculty as to location and general conditions, may form boarding clubs. This may be permitted:

(a)—To young ladies, provided they reside with a matron approved by the Faculty, who will be responsible for carrying out the provisions of Section 4, above.

STUDENT ORGANIZATION.

The active religious life of the student body is promoted by the different organizations among them.

The Young Men's Christian Association maintains regular meetings and has a membership of 75. The Young Woman's Christian Association meetings are well attended and are very helpful. The membership is 60. The volunteer Band and Mission Study Class hold regular meetings. The former has a membership of 10, the latter of 40. Both organizations are under the helpful care of Dr. A. L. Wolfe, who meets with them for conference and study.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

In addition to the work of the departments of English and Literature, Literary Societies have been organized. Students are urged to take membership in these organizations and secure the benefits of the voluntary literary work afforded by them. The young men and women meet separately. They have their own halls and furniture. During the year the halls have been redecorated and partially refurnished. They are artistic and of necessity helpful to a fuller, stronger development of the cultural side of the student life. At their weekly meetings the usual literary programs are rendered. At stated intervals during the year joint open sessions are given. An inter-society debate is made a valuable feature of each term's work. The regular meetings are limited to members of the societies, and a strict adherence to parliamentary usages is insisted upon.

THE ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Oratorical Association was organized in 1888, as a part of the Inter-Collegiate Association of the State. Local contests are held each fall, at which an orator is chosen to represent the college at inter-collegiate contests. First place was won by Park's orator in 1897 in the inter-collegiate, thereby securing a place in the Inter-State, where first place was accorded our representative. First place was again won in the inter-collegiate in 1903, in 1904 and in 1906, and second place in 1905 and in 1907.

PUBLICATIONS.

THE PARK REVIEW is a quarterly magazine of Park College, edited by Dr. Thomas Gregory Burt, Department of Bible and Chaplain, assisted by several members of the Faculty. It is literary, historical, philosophical and educational in its character, and has made a place for itself in the estimation of the student body and the faculty, and has a growing circulation among the friends of the College.

THE STYLUS, published under the direction of the Senior class of the College, is distinctly the student organ. Now in its twelfth year, it is growing in circulation and influence as a factor for good. The literary productions are of a high order and pride is taken to make it helpful to all who read it.

The address before the graduating class of the Academy was delivered, 1905, by Rev. Robert Watt, '80, Murphysboro, Ill.

In 1906 by Rev. Dr. C. Boyd Beckes, '93, Valparaiso Ind.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The Academy is under the same general management as the College. It has for its object the thorough preparation of its students for pursuing the College course, as outlined on the preceding pages, consequently it differs materially from the High Schools in the course offered. It has a separate corps of instructors, who are in constant touch with the heads of the corresponding departments in ge. The instruction is given in the same building with college classes, thereby giving the students advantage of contact with the college students and professors. The literary privileges are extended to them on the same basis as the college students. They have their own literary societies, which hold weekly meetings.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The work of the Academy has been outlined with great care, and covers a course of four years. All subjects not deemed necessary for a special preparation for the college course have been eliminated.

ADMISSION.

To enter the First year, students must have completed grammar grade work as is usually required in our best graded schools. A certificate of admission to any high school maintaining a three or four years' course will be accepted. Students holding teacher's certificates will be admitted without examination. Applicants for admission to other years must present certificate or pass examination on all subjects below the year for which they apply. The acceptance of all credits is contingent upon the quality of work done by the students after matriculation.

Written examinations are held at the close of each term, the results of which are given to the student in written form. A grade of 75 per cent is required for passing the first and second years, of 60 per cent for work of the third and fourth years, and an average of 70 per cent on the third and fourth years for graduation.

GREEK.

DUDLEY D. GRIFFITH.

ementary Greek. III. 1, 2 and 3. 5 hours.

The purpose of this course is to establish as broad a foundation as is possible for the study of the forms, syntax, cabulary, and mode of expression of the Greek language, us enabling the student to read Greek readily and idioatically.

Texts: White's First Greek Book and Moss' Greek reader.

nabasis. IV. 1 and 2. 5 hours.

In this course the first four books of Xenophon's Ana-asis are studied. Selections amounting to at least two books re read very carefully for training in accurate translation nd as a basis for the study of the forms and the syntax of e language. The history of the time is taught in a rapid eading of the remaining parts of the Anabasis, in collateral eading, and in a study of the lives of the leaders of the expedition. The learning of the memory passage for the Fourth Year Greek Declamatory Contest is a part of this term's work.

Texts: Goodwin and White's Anabasis and Goodwin's Greek Grammar.

Herodotus. IV. 3. 5 hours.

In addition to the study of the Greek language, this course affords an opportunity for a critical consideration of the history of the Persian Wars. The Ionic dialect is studied as an introduction to Homer.

Text: Mather's Selections from Herodotus.

Greek Prose Composition. IV. 1, 2 and 3. 1 hour.

The purpose of this course is to review Greek forms, to systematize the student's knowledge of Greek syntax, to form the basis for the learning of a large vocabulary by a study of Greek etymology, and to acquire the power of writing idiomatic Greek.

LATIN.

J. W. STEPHENS. THERESA M. KALB. E. O. KOCH.

The following courses aim to give a fair knowledge of Latin as a language, to serve as a basis for the further study of Latin as literature in College. All that is indispensable of vocabulary, forms, construction and sentence structure is thoroughly acquired, and as much more as time permits. Incidentally the student learns the essential features of Roman life and custom. Review of inflections and syntax and more or less of prose composition characterize the entire course of four years.

Beginning Latin I. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

The elements are mastered and in addition as many easy Latin fables and stories are read as time permits.

Cæsar's Commentaries II. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

Five books are read. But for a portion of this an equivalent in some other reading, as Viri Romæ, may be substituted sufficient to serve a transition to Cæsar. The grammar is reviewed and prose exercises continued.

Sallust's Catiline III. 1. 5 hours.

Cicero's Catline III. 2, 3. 5 hours.

The four Catilinarian orations are carefully studied. Prose composition forms a large share of the work throughout all the reading of Cicero. Grammar is reviewed and a special effort is made to acquire an accurate knowledge of a good working vocabulary.

Cicero's Orations IV. 1. 5 hours.

Virgil's Aeneid IV. 2, 3. 5 hours.

Cicero's Archias is read and one other oration from Pompey's Command, Marcellus, Milo. In the Aeneid Books I-VI, much is read intensively, while rapid reading is not neglected. Grammar review is continued and scansion thoroughly mastered. During this year more attention is paid to the literary side of the works read.

ENGLISH.

LIDA I. WHITE.

Literature I. 1, 2, 3. 2 hours..

American Literature Primer with representative works of prominent American authors.

Literature II. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Lady of the Lake, Webster's Bunker Hill Oration, Ivanhoe.

Literature III. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Merchant of Venice, Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America, Silas Marner.

Literature IV. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Julius Cæsar, a Study of Poetic Forms based on Hale's Longer English Poems, The House of Seven Gables.

Composition and Rhetoric I. II. 1, 2, 3. 2 and 1 hours.

Rhetoric and theme writing with class criticism.

Composition and Rhetoric III. IV. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Short and long themes, class criticism and conference with individual students. Public speaking, class instruction based on Fulton and Trueblood's Practical Elocution.

Composition and Rhetoric I. II. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Declamation, approved selections with class criticism three appearances.

Composition and Rhetoric III. IV. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Declamations, approved selections, personal drill, three appearances.

MUSIC.

MARGARET ABIGAIL WILLIAMS.

This course is designed to give the student a practical reading knowledge of music, correct use of the voice and the principles of enunciation.

Music I. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Rudiments of music—Major keys—scales, both vocal and written, ear training and interval drill, introduction of chromatics and two part chorus work. Biography—Handel and Bach.

Music II. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Chromatic scales, vocal and written, interval drill introduction of bass staff, three and four part chorus work, introduction of the Minor Mode.

Music III. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Minor keys, modulation, vocal and instrumental forms of music, chorus drill.

Music IV. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Biography and advanced chorus work.

SCIENCE.

EDWIN H. ZION.

Science III. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

For the ensuing year work in this department will be along Biological lines. The elementary forms of life will be considered during the first and second terms as a basis for an intelligent study of Human Physiology, Anatomy and Hygiene during the third term. Individual work will be required in the laboratories of the College. These laboratories are specially well equipped for this work. Study of the third term is aided by the constant use of a manikin, skeleton, charts, casts and a fine collection of microscopic slides.

BIBLICAL HISTORY.

THOMAS G. BURT.

History III. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

Attention is given to the careful study of Biblical Geography, Customs and Antiquities. The Bible is used as text, supplemented by lectures, photographs, maps and stereopticon.

History IV. 1, 2, 3. 1 hour.

The work required is the study of Old Testament History. The Bible and Blaikie's Manual of Bible History are used with frequent lectures.

HISTORY.

IDA E. STEM.

Ancient History II. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

Myers' Ancient History is used. The effort in the work is to introduce the student to the lives of the ancient peoples, specially with reference to their social, industrial and political customs.

MATHEMATICS.

JOHN W. HORNBEAK.

Algebra I. and II. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

It is the object not only to secure facility in the algebraic operations, but also to develop a thorough appreciation tion of the fundamental principles underlying the science. All important rules are rigorously proved, and it is the constant aim to develop the power of thinking in general terms. Geometry IV. 1, 2, 3. 5 hours.

Wentworth's Revised Geometry is used as a text book. In Solid Geometry demonstrations are made from goniostat models and a pendant globe, as well as from blackboard figures. Many original exercises are given.

Attention is called repeatedly to the various methods of reasoning employed in the demonstrations. Thus it is the aim to make this study of mathematics worth while, both for its own sake and for the sake of mental power and method.

This department aims for an appreciation of the highest in music; to cultivate the student's ear for the best literature and train his ear and fingers to carry out his ideal. A thoroughly classical course is maintained, yet each student is educated individually, and such studies assigned as best fit his special needs. Student recitals are given during the year, as an important part of musical training. Instruction is offered, class or individual, in musical composition and harmony. A knowledge of harmony is indispensable to the musician. It is to music what grammar is to literature. Tuition below is all, for a term of twelve weeks; three terms make one school year. The tuition is payable in advance.

The work of this department has been enlarged and improved during the year. Its scope is both individual and general. Its aim is to enable students to gain a mastery of voice and instruments as a part of a liberal education. Its studios and practice rooms are in Mackay Building and the several homes of the campus. Twelve pianos and five organs are in the use of the department.

MRS. S. L. McAFEE.

This department meets the needs of those who wish to pursue a course in Piano or Organ Music. Particular attention is given to thoroughness in principles in order that pupils may early experience the practical value of that which is acquired.

While studies and exercises are pursued during the entire course they are varied by introducing such selections from good composers as will tend to the greatest advancement of the pupils.

Lessons one hour in length.

Instruments for practice 50 cents per month.

All pupils are expected to practice at least one hour each day. Term of 20 lessons, $10.00.

VOICE CULTURE.

MARGARET ABIGAIL WILLIAMS.

To make the voice perfect in intonation, strong and flexible throughout its range, to teach the student the "art of phrasing and expression," and to understand and appreciate the works of the masters is the aim of this course. To accomplish this the general principles of voice culture must be followed by each student. Breath control, correct tone production and enunciation are the essentials for a beautiful tone. As voices vary with the characteristics and temperament of the individual, no one method is pursued, but the individual needs of each student are considered, and faults eradicated by the use of exercises, vocalises and songs that will secure the best results with the least effort. A general knowledge of sight singing and instrumental music is an advantage to the voice student. A few students chosen by the Faculty from the Senior and Junior classes have voice culture in place of a regular elective. Only those having good voices and taking a high place in the musical organizations of the College are granted this privilege. Student recitals occur on the last Monday of each month, and each student is expected to appear when suitably prepared. Two Faculty concerts are given during the year in which the musical members of the Faculty and the musical organizations of the College participate. The Women's College Glee Club receives instruction in this department once a week during the year.

TUITION.

VIOLIN.

O. CLAUDE RADER.

The same methods are used here as in Brussels, Belgium Conservatory.

After the complete method of Alards, then scales, Schradieck, Mazas and Don't Studies are used.

Anyone having received thorough training in the above, or their equivalents may take up the Studies of the following masters: Kreutzer, Fiorille, Rode, the high classical of De Beriot, Rovellii, Ganinies, Vieuxtemps, the Bach Sonatas and Paganini. A few of the solo studies with these are:

the concertos of De Beriot, Vieuxtemps, Viotti, Rode, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Ernst and Paganini.

The aim is to develop the talent of each pupil to the highest degree possible.

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS.

There are five distinctively College Musical Organizations. The choir under the direction of Prof. A. D. Wolfe is composed of thirty voices distributed proportionately among the parts. Two regular practices are held each week with special rehearsals as demanded. Student membership is limited to the College students. Both sacred and secular music constitutes its repertoire. One or more anthems are sung each Sabbath during the services of the Parkville Presbyterian Church with which the College is closely associated.

The Men's Glee Club is under the direction of Prof. R. V. Magers. It is composed of sixteen members limited to College students, with a cornetist and reader. Two weekly practices are held. A score or more of non resident concerts are given annually. The club is in demand locally for programmes and entertainments.

The Women's Glee Club is composed of twenty-six members chosen equally from the membership of the Calliopean Literary Society and the Lucerne Literary Club. It is under the direction of Miss Williams and practices weekly. The organization was effected in the fall of 1906 and is rapidly finding place in the esteem of all the lovers of music who hear them.

The Park-Lawrence Band is composed of fifteen pieces. Members are chosen from both College and Academy classes. Two weekly practices are held. It is under the direction of Mr. O. C. Rader and is ready for call for all occasions, especially where band music alone can equal the demand.

The Orchestra is composed of twelve pieces. Its membership is composed of both College and Academy students. Mr. O. C. Rader is director. Two weekly practices are held. The orchestra appears on many programmes throughout the year and, in part, leads the music of the Sabbath School each Sabbath day.
